Cultivating Collaboration Workshop

Date and Time: Wednesday, November 13 6:30 pm - 8:30 pm

Address: 18313 Hurontario St, Caledon Village, ON L7K 0X7

Attention farmers and agricultural landowners in Ontario!

This event aims to support both farmers who rent farmland and their landowners in the Credit River Watershed. By working together, we can have sustainable win-wins for farmland.

Renting can be tough. High rental costs and not knowing if you can stay long-term can make it hard for farmers to make investments for long-term environmental and economic sustainability. Landowners may also worry about letting others manage their property. In our area, more and more farmland is being rented, so it's important to solve these issues.

Bruce Kelly, Farm and Food Care Ontario, and Karen Hutchinson, Albion Hills Community Farm, will be presenting at the workshop. Bruce will share some tools and strategies landowners and farmers can use to build effective, long-term and trusting relationships. Karen will lead a panel discussion featuring local farmers and landowners, who will talk about their experiences, challenges and lessons learned with renting farmland.

Come join us for some practical ideas based on real farm experience! Register here.
